THE NATIONAL RETURNING BOARD

Now that the specified compromise bill has passed we presume that many people who have been digging memoranda in favor will think it worth while to examine its provisions. They will find that the compromise is absolutely all upon one side. Little Hildebrandt Attorney could not have been upon document more exactly in the interest of the Democratic party. We have never feared any equitable adjustment of the result of the election, and we believe that Gov Hayes cannot be deprived of his seat in the free deliberate river without the perpetration of a gross wrong. We feel very much as would a man in court whose counsel could do everything in his power to throw the case out but who would still trust to the integrity of his opponent to decide the matter on its merits. If Gov Hayes cannot get hands of this commission and hands of this commission be made direct to the two Houses where such can prevail where both branches concur, which every one of the Democrats against the principle and object of the commission will be overruled by a majority of the Republicans. Thus any Republican object on to the vote of Mississippi or Alabama or to the ineligible Electors in Missouri or Oregon is bound to be rejected by the votes of the Democratic House, while the votes voted for by the Democratic House will be counted by the votes of the Democrats in the Senate. He thus proceeded to cite some extracts from former speeches to show that members of the joint committee had not always maintained the doctrines they now advocate. He first took the case of Mr Edmunds and quoted from one of that Senator's speeches this emphatic declaration:

"It is plain enough, I think, that Congress cannot by law declare that the Vice President of the United States or rather the President of the Senate, whoever he may be, should not open and count the returns made from the various States. * * * And so also I think it safe to say * * * that Congress may provide by law a tribunal which, in case of a dispute after the tribunal is named in the Constitution has expired, should decide the question. But to say that the President of the Senate shall have the power to decide who is legally elected President of the United States, not as the tribunal acting under the Constitution decides but THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE SHALL TAKE ON THE PRESENCE OF THE TWO HOUSES but to ascertain in a method pointed out by law what are the votes that the States have given and who therefore is the person who has received in the language of the Constitution the greatest number of votes. * * * It is a monstrous assertion of the authority of the President of the Senate to count the votes and a denial of the power of Congress to interfere herewith by any law the proposition being to run that and to decide a contest made after the votes have been duly declared. Mr Edmunds is plainly not one of the infallibles. Mr Conkling's record was next taken up and he was reminded of an amendment he offered in 1873 on counting the votes of Georgia for Horace Greeley although the vote had been decreed to Grant's electors.

The function of the tribunal is to decide the question of counting the vote being put upon the merits and the question being independent of the fact of the vote or of the count.

He was also reminded of the Democratic opinion of his 8th effect.

Either House or both Houses may at whatever time committed to it to them but Congress cannot delegate to anybody else its legislative power or any other power which is imposed on Congress and to which it alone is competent.

Mr Conkling now argued that the power to count the votes is delegated in Congress and nowhere else, and with this been forcibly in championing a bill which delegates to an extra constitutional tribunal the power to decide which of any and all votes from any State are to be counted provided for by the Constitution of the United States and how many and what persons were duly appointed electors in such State and to exercise the same powers that any now possessed for that purpose by the two Houses acting as parts of one together. Effectually the Webster-Clay philosophy of the New York Senator has taken new shape since it met the light of day.

The case of Senator Thurman the Democratic leader from Ohio was next attended to and his consistency as a framer of the compromise bill was tested by Senator Morton by quotations from one of Thurman's speeches which had aided the extracts.

I know it was suggested and I think a proposition was filed that a private bill should be introduced in the House of a Bargement between the two Houses by the Supreme Court. If one must say that I hardly see how it could be done * * * I do not see therefore that you can confer this power upon the Supreme Judges as judges sitting as a Supreme Court, to decide this question because it is not a judicial question within the meaning of the Constitution of the United States. And to say that you could confer upon them is not an individual to say that you can confer it upon any other class in Rule of the United States.

Mr Thurman now advocates conferring upon the Underwood judges a power that he has declared could not be conferred upon nine of them which shows that he too has experienced a remarkable change of opinion. Another distinguished member of the Committee Senator Bayard was confronted with what must have been to him an appalling record of his utterances as lately as 1876 from which we need cite but a few emphatic words

And I believe in power given to either House of Congress to pass upon the question whether the number or the fact of electors for President and Vice-President, and if the Congress of the United States either in one or both Houses shall assume under the guise or pretext of counting a vote to decide the fact of the election of electors who are to form the college by whom the President and Vice-President are to be chosen, then will be taken upon themselves an authority for which I can find no warrant in our charter of united powers.

In this strain speech, after reading the words of the Constitution, Senator Bayard declared

"THERE IS NOTHING IN THIS LANGUAGE THAT AUTHORIZES EITHER HOUSE OF CONGRESS OR BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS TO INTERFERE WITH THE DECISION WHICH HAS BEEN MADE BY THE ELECTORS THEMSELVES AND CERTIFIED BY THEM AND SENT TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE."

Senator Stevenson of Kentucky, another earnest Democratic supporter of the bill, was also reminded that in the same debate a year or two ago he took the strongest and most positive ground that Congress had no power to make any law concerning the counting of the electoral votes, while another Democratic Senator, William Pinckney Whyte, of Maryland, precluded the necessity of eliting from his record, by himself reaffirming his former emphatic declarations that the power to count the votes is vested absolutely in the President of the Senate and that Congress has no function but to witness the count, which he followed by declaring he could find "no warrant in the Constitution," for the power assumed in the compromise bill—and then, like a well regulated, non-partisan Democrat, he marched grimly across his own record, bundled up his "constitutional doubts and views acquired after long years of study," to lay them upon the altar of his country," and voted squarely for the bill.

Although the managers of the bill arbitrarily refused Mr. Morton the brief delay his physical exhaustion, so eloquently pleaded, and force him to utter his protest when worn out with illness and fatigue, they had no occasion to boast of any advantage. The indomitable spirit of the War Governor rose superior to physical infirmities and he closed one of the grandest struggles ever made by a minority, in a speech rarely equalled in compact argument and logical power. Turning upon those who had balloted a great deception by assailing his personal consistency, he rapidly weighed them in turn in the balance of their own formal declarations as quoted above, and closed with a masterly arraignment of the compromise scheme. That a large majority in the Senate were committed to its support regardless of former expressions and present doubts of its legality, was well known long before the close of the debate, but the minority made a splendid, manly contest under the flag of the Constitution and kept it waving to the last.

We have made the above citations for the double purpose of showing up the petfogging nature of the advocacy of this bill which has so largely consisted of irrelevant attacks upon an individual opponent of inconsistency of views, and at the same time turning the light upon the other side to show how completely the framers of this compromise repudiated its doctrines at a time when there was no partisan issue to warp their views. The Boston Advertiser, which constantly sermonizes against partisanship without seeming to realize that the word applies to other things than politics, has made Senator Morton's alleged inconsistencies its chief arguments in favor of the bill. It has given numerous quotations from his speeches which could only have been obtained by reading the debates in which he quoted authorities of Edmunds, Conkling, Thurman, Bayard, Stevenson, Whyte and other Senators of compromise quite as conspicuously appear but it has been partisan in suppressing reference to their utterances, as it has been in the character of its citations, Mr Morton. That he failed to be affected I should yesterday a Democrat in the building 280 pounds telling us there was great alarm of trouble. I was at the people of the country to know that there was a Republican on whom the great fear does not rest. (Laughter.)

It is not in regard alone to the State of Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina that there is difficulty and when I say in regard to them I should add the whole difficulty is not said. I not a bit of it. The question of Colorado I make. Every Democratic paper in the country is full of it. Every Democratic paper in the country is full of it. Every Democratic paper in the country is full of it

FROM PORTLAND.

A Water Power Dispute.

PORTLAND, Jan 27. A hearing is being had before Judge Virgin to-day on a bill in equity filed by the Oriental Powder Company, restraining D. D. Warren & Co., of Cumberland Mills, from interfering with the flood gates at the head of the dam on Presumpscot river. Able counsel appear on both sides. The dam was originally built to raise the water sufficiently for the use of the Cumberland and Oxford Canal, but became the property of Nathan Winslow, on whose land it was erected, subject to the rights of the canal, which corporation is now extinct. The Powder Mills claim from this original proprietorship and the respondents claim that the power at Sacarappa has been improved for more than an hundred years, and that their ancient right is to the natural flow of the river; also that they have contributed and own a portion of the dam. The complainants offer some thirty-five affidavits, some showing that before the dam was built there had been dry times when the natural flow would not run the mills. Respondents will offer this afternoon twenty affidavits to support their position.

FROM HALLOWELL.

Boarding House Burned—Several Men Injured.

HALLOWELL, Jan. 28. About 7 o'clock Saturday evening a fire broke out in one of the chambers of the large boarding house at the south end of Second street, owned by the Hallowell Granite Co., and occupied by Mr. J. G. Cummings. The engines were promptly on hand, but owing to the difficulty of getting water it was some time before they got to work. While endeavoring to save the furniture in the chamber where the fire took, an explosion of powder or kerosene took place in the room, seriously injuring several persons. Lorrington Haines was badly burned in the face, so that he is partially blinded. Russell Ames was badly burned on the face and hands. John Campbell was in about the same condition. John Quinn was burned in the face, but not seriously. All these were thrown down the stairs by the concussion. An Italian, a boarder at the house, was thrown or jumped out of the second story window and badly burned. They were all taken to the drug store of Messrs. Hawes & Warren and their wounds attended to by Dr. Hawes and Dr. Mosher. The building was destroyed. The furniture was mostly saved. Loss about $3000. Insured for $2000.

DOMESTIC NEWS

WASHINGTON.

Judge Davis.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. A Washington special says Judge Davis cannot resign before March 4th, as the Chief Justice has given him opinions to write which will occupy his time to that date.

The Tax on Banks.

WASHINGON, Jan. 27. The commission of Internal Revenue says that he considers that the present tax upon capital and deposits is large enough against State banks and private bankers and he has made no recommendations to the Ways and Means Committee to increase that tax. There were certain bankers in the country who did a large loan business upon funds which they alleged did not come within the designation of capital or deposits and were therefore exempt from taxation under the existing laws.

Capture of a Diamond Robber.

J. H. Tilthardson, one of the diamond robbers of Saratoga, has been arrested here and considerable property recovered.

NEW YORK STATE.

An Awful Conspirator.

New York, Jan 27. Newton Hoover is under arrest at Hudson, in this State, for conspiracy with roughs to smother and then murder his uncle's family, (Abram Post), and burn the mansion and dead bodies, the object being to burn up notes and other evidences of Hoover's debt to Post.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS, Second Session

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.

The Military Academy and Fortification Appropriation bills were called up, amendments reported by the Committee on Appropriations were agreed to and the bills passed without discussion.

The bill to create a sinking fund for liquidation of the indebtedness due the Government by the Pacific Railroad Companies, by unanimous consent, was laid aside informally. The bill to ratify the agreement with the Sioux, Northern Arapahoe and Cheyenne Indians was taken up.

A message was received in the Senate at 11 20 from the House of Representatives announcing the passage of the bill in relation to counting the Electoral vote by that body. At 12 25 a second message was received announcing that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill in regard to counting the Electoral vote. It was then immediately signed by the President pro tem. of the Senate, and given to the Committee on Enrolled Bills to be delivered to the President of the United States.

The bill reported by the Judiciary Committee last session in regard to establishing a sinking fund for liquidation of the indebtedness due from the Pacific Railroad Companies, was taken up at 1 o'clock and read at length, after which Mr. Thurman, who has charge of the bill, yielded for an Executive session. The Senate then adjourned until Monday.

House

The members of the Louisiana Returning Board were in the House at noon to be arraigned for contempt; but owing to the absence of the Republican Representatives at their caucus, they were temporarily withdrawn.

Mr. Wood presented a memorial of the New York Chamber of Commerce and 1500 bankers and merchants of New York city, asking a repeal of all special taxes on National banks. Referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Knott from the Judiciary Committee reported in the case of Belford, claiming to be a representative from the State of Colorado, that he will call it up for action next Tuesday. The report is in favor of admitting the Representative.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian Appropriation bill.

After some time spent in considering the bill the committee without having adopted any important amendments, rose and reported it to the House, and it was then passed.

At 2 30 o'clock the four members of the Louisiana Returning Board, who had refused to produce the original returns asked for by the investigating committee at New Orleans, were presented at the bar of the House in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. The Speaker put the formal question first to Wells: "What excuse he had to make?" Mr. Wells replied that two members of the board had just arrived and that himself and Mr. Anderson had not had time to confer with them in order to frame their answer. They therefore asked the opportunity of a conference and time till some day next week to make their answer to the House. The same question was put separately to each of the other witnesses. The answer of each was to the same effect. Mr. Lynde of Wisconsin then upon offered two resolutions: one, adjudging the witnesses to be in contempt, and the other ordering them to appear before the investigating committee and produce the papers called for, and that in the meantime they be kept in close custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms.

Mr. Harris of Virginia, as an amendment, proposed that (as in the Irwin case) the witnesses be confined in the common jail. [Murmurs of disapprobation on the Republican side of the House.]

Mr. Page of California, (sarcastically)—Better move to have them taken out and hanged right away. [Laughter.]

Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts—I ask whether the first two witnesses arrested, Wells and Anderson, have had an opportunity of a conference with their associates?

Mr. Lynde—I understand, they have. They have been together since half past seven this morning.

Mr. Wells (without rising from his seat)—We have not

Mr. Anderson (rising and addressing the Speaker)—We have not.

The Speaker—The witnesses will be seated.

Mr. Page—I move that the witnesses have the right to speak through somebody else.

Mr. Clymer, of Mr. Pennsylvania—The previous question has been called, and all debate is out of order.

Mr. Garfield—These witnesses have been kept in duress and separated from each other. [Calls of "to order."] There can be no vote on the previous question without a hearing.

Mr. Clymer (to Mr. Garfield)—You have been heard quite enough; we propose to dispose of this matter at once.

Mr. Kasson of Iowa—I move that the House adjourn unless the gentlemen are allowed to have at least a conversation on the subject.

Mr. Page—I move that when the House adjourn it be to meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Garfield—The House has not even heard the answers of these witnesses; they have them written in their hands and have not been heard.

Mr. Cox—This is an attempt to defeat the will of the people of Louisiana and of the United States.

After one vote by yeas and nays on a dilatory motion, Mr. Hancock of Texas, proposed that the previous question be withdrawn, and that the witnesses have half an hour to confer and prepare an answer. That arrangement was assented to on both sides, and the four witnesses retired to a committee-room to confer together.

A resolution to pay Mr. Eads $500,000 for Mississippi jetties was offered. An amendment that the pay be in $500,000 of U. S. standard 5 per cent. bonds was suggested and debated a short time, when its consideration was suspended and the four members of the Louisiana Returning Board were again presented at the bar of the House.

They sent up to the Clerk's desk an answer, which was read. They declare that in every one of their acts they acted with the most sincere respect and deference to the dignity and authority of the House and its committee, and with the desire and purpose of submitting in all good faith to every lawful requirement of the House and its committee; and that if any act of theirs was a breach of the just privileges of the House, it was not so intended, but was without any purpose of fraud or violence to its lawful authority, and was solely an honest purpose to discharge their official duty faithfully.

They submit that they have not in law nor in fact violated any privilege of the House, nor rendered themselves in any way justly amenable to be treated as in contempt of its authority. The answer then proceeds to detail the provisions of the law of Louisiana governing the action of the Returning Board in regard to elections. They state that until a full canvass of the election in that State was completed the continuous control of the papers was absolutely indispensable, and that the moment those duties are ended all such papers are required to be deposited with the Secretary of State. This was done on or about the 5th of January, 1877, and the papers have ever since remained there, without these witnesses having any control of them.

The answer then proceeds with a long legal argument against the Right of the House or of Congress to go behind the report of the Returning Board as to the election of Presidential Electors, and characterizing the attempt of the committee to possess itself of the papers as an act of usurpation which the committee or House, after mature deliberation, would not persist in.

They declare that neither of them know of any fraudulent or false returns on which they based their action; but that on the contrary in every act and conclusion of their's they acted to the best of their knowledge and according to law and right. They say it is not in their power to surrender the papers called for, and they submit that if they are to be punished by the House, the guarantees of the Constitution are a most cruel mockery or mere idle and unmeaning form. In conclusion they state that they submit their rights as officers and their liberties as citizens to the protection of the laws of the land.

Mr. Lynde inquired whether the answer was sworn to?

The Speaker, after consulting, said it was not.

Mr. Lynde suggested that it was an unusual thing such answers are under oath and that that was parliamentary law.

The Speaker remarked that that had recently been the practice, and that former Speakers had intimated that it was desirable to have answers sworn to.

Mr. Hale of Maine—But only in a suggestive way.

The Speaker—Of course there is no rule to govern the case. The witnesses can be sworn now.

Mr. Lynde—I do not care about their being sworn. I move the previous question on the first resolution.

Mr. Kasson suggested that the resolution should define what the contempt consisted of.

Mr. Lynde replied that the record showed what offense the witnesses were guilty of, and it was not necessary in every order of the House that that should be repeated.

Mr. Kasson—This is the first time the House has been asked to give a judgment of contempt; how can they purge themselves unless the contempt is defined?

Mr. Lynde—By appearing before the committee and producing the papers.

Mr. Kasson—Why not say so in the resolution?

Mr. Lynde—Because it is not necessary.

The resolution was again read. It simply reads that "they be adjudged to be in contempt for violation of privileges of the House."

Mr. Kasson—They can afford to go to jail on this principle.

The resolution was adopted, yeas 145, nays 87; a party vote, with the exception of Mr. Carr of Indiana, who voted "No."

The question then recurred on the second resolution, ordering the witnesses to appear before the special committee, of which Mr. Morrison is Chairman, to produce all the statements of votes and tally sheets of every polling place in Louisiana, together with the affidavits, etc., and remanding them to the custody of the Sergeant-at-arms. Adopted, yeas 138, nays 75.

The House then resumed the bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay $500,000 to James B. Eads. Without action on the bill the House adjourned.

THE COMPROMISE BILL.

Conjectures as to the Make-up of the Commission.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. The Tribune's Washington special says in relation to the make-up of the commission: This is the day of compromises, and Republicans get into caucus they will be very likely to settle their differences on this important subject by giving a representation upon the commission to the three principal shades of opinion existing among them in regard to the bill. It is almost safe to predict that Edmunds will be appointed to represent the warm friends of the bill, Mr. Howe to stand for the class who voted for it as a political necessity, and Morton as the foremost opponent of the measure. The Democrats of the Senate, it is believed, will place on the commission two of their members of the joint committee, Bayard and Thurman. In the House the differences of opinion among Republicans on this question of the make-up of the commission will find more positive expression than in the Senate. The ultra opponents of the compromise are trying to crowd its supporters out of any representation on the commission. They want to put the case into the hands of men who have never believed there was anything for Republicans to compromise. Naturally the men who made and passed the bill do not mean to be cast aside if they can help it. They regard representatives Hale McCrary and Foster just as much in favor of Gov. Hayes' success as Gen. Garfield, Mr. Frye and Mr. Townsend

The selections made by the Republicans of the House for members of the Commission.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 The Republican members of the House held a caucus this morning for the purpose of designating two of their number to be members of the House branch of the tripartite electoral commission. General Garfield of Ohio was unanimously selected as one of the two, and upon a fourth ballot Mr. Hoar was chosen as the other, the vote being Hoar of Massachusetts 65, and Hale of Maine 40. Three names will be presented to the House on Tuesday for election, together with those of three Democrats yet to be designated by the Democratic caucus.

Mr. Frye insisted that no doubtful Republicans should be placed on this commission. Mr. Hoar being one of those at whom this remark was apparently aimed, repelled the imputation with earnestness, and stated that he neither sought nor wanted an appointment on the commission

The Suit against Tilden

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. There is a letter printed here under date of January 25th, from Internal Revenue Commissioner Raum to George Bliss, then United States Attorney, saying his action in bringing suit against Samuel J. Tilden for the recovery of $150,000 unpaid taxes, has his approval.

GREAT BRITTAIN.

Gladstone on the Eastern Question.

LONDON, Jan. 27. Gladstone made a speech at Taunton to-day, and said: "We ought to mind our own business, and why we should mind the Eastern questions because we have chosen to make it our own question. It was made our business under circumstances which to true hearted Englishman ought to disown. Regarding the reports of outrages—there has been no exaggeration except the exaggeration that the Turks had the capacity and desire of reform. Do not listen to that for a moment. But as to the black deeds done in Bulgaria, the whole vocabulary of human language is insufficient to paint them as they deserve."

LOCAL MATTERS.

Beautiful moon-light nights.

Remember the Temperance Socials this evening at Music Hall.

Mr. A. McIntire, city editor of the St. John Telegraph was in town yesterday.

Meeting of the Board of Trade this afternoon in the Council Room, at half past two o'clock.

The third of the Unitarian Coffee Parties will be given at Andrews' Academy Wednesday Evening.

The police captured fourteen sleds yesterday, taken from boys while sliding on the public highways.

No broken chimneys! J. S. Ricker & Co., advertise for sale a perfect Kerosene light without a chimney.

Saturday the streets were full of teams and the first of the afternoon there was some fine trotting on the Hampden road.

Mandel rehearsal this evening. As this is full rehearsal there will be no "social hour," but the entire evening will be devoted to the Oratorio.

Mrs. Cornelius Webber, who lives on Broadway, on her way home from down town, a few days ago, slipped on French street, and badly bruised her side and hip. It is thought no bones were broken, but the hurt is painful in the extreme.

The piers on the E. & N. A. Railway bridge are nearly completed. With the exception of a few timbers and some of the flooring plank the draw is entirely new. After the ice breaks up and the draw can be turned, some of the working gear will be repaired.

S. W. Dunne, of Brewer, received at his yard on Saturday, the 27th, seventy cords of hemlock bark, which was hauled from the town of Amherst, a distance of fifteen miles. Mr. Dunne peeled the season last past, on said town, two thousand cords of bark and it shows itself to be of a very superior quality.

STORE BURNED AT CAMDEN. Friday night about 12 o'clock, a fire broke out in the store of Lewis Hartford, in which was situated the Post office, and the building was entirely destroyed, it having burned for some time before discovered. Cause, defective flue. Loss about $1100 which was partially covered by insurance

THE BALL TO-NIGHT. The arrangements made for the Bangor House Ball this evening give promise of a most brilliant and enjoyable affair. As before announced the miscellaneous dancing will begin at 8 o'clock, supper will be furnished by Mr. Shaw and the entertainment will close with a short German.

B. & P. RAILROAD. On Saturday evening at a special meeting of the City Government, an order was passed to seal the loan bill to the Legislature, authorizing the city to loan its credit for the purpose of extending the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad from some point between Foxcroft and Oldtown to some point near tidewater in this city, for action upon it

Mrs. Abby Storer Doutney, who comes to this city highly recommended as a speaker and whose brief and stirring remarks at the recent State Convention were much applauded, will give an address in City Hall under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at half past seven o'clock this evening. She has a spirited manner of conveying information and will undoubtedly have a good house to hear her.

In another column will be found some particulars concerning "Centennial No. 2," to which all may take passage on Wednesday afternoon and evening next. Those who visited the Turkish Bazaar, at Philadelphia, will have an opportunity to visit it again on that date, and those who did not visit the Centennial at all should not miss seeing this as one hundred brief summers will pass before there is another opportunity.

REV MR. KNAPP'S LECTURES. The fourth lecture on Architecture, by Rev A. M. Knapp, will be given on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30th, at half-past seven prompt. Subject "Romanesque Architecture." "Gothic Architecture" is a subject of so vast dimensions that the lecturer has found it necessary to divide it into two lectures, thus making the course consist of 7 lectures, thereby adding one lecture to the original number. Tickets for the remaining four lectures will be $1 25, and can be obtained of Jacob Stern & Co., and Dr. Burbee & Co.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. Yesterday's meeting, under the auspices of the Reform Club, was indeed very large, every available seat and even standing space being occupied. The President, R. N. McIntyre, conducted the exercises, which were opened with singing the "Morning light," etc. The speakers who addressed the meeting were introduced by the chair in the following order, and all of them received close and orderly attention: Wm. Doughty of the Club, Mrs. Gibson of the Crusade, W. A. Langley of the Club; Mrs. Abby Storer Doutney of Boston; Pauline Seavey of the Club; Mrs. Work of the Crusade. When such an able and eloquent speaker as Mrs. Doutney is added to others named above, our readers may rest assured that the occasion was one that cannot but awaken our people to renewed activity and cause the hearts of reformers to rejoice with increased gladness

SACRED CONCERT. Music Hall was filled last evening, the audience being drawn thither by the second of the series of sacred concerts given under the direction of Mr. McGowen. The programme as published in our issue of Saturday was followed with the exception of the last number, quartette, "Chorus of Angels," which was replaced by the trio, "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mesdames Crowell, Shaw and Lawrence. The appearance of Miss Wiley formed one of the principal attractions, and her fine singing, added to the otherwise very excellent concert. The instrumental music, especially the pieces arranged for the piano, organ and violin, were very nicely rendered. The singers last evening seemed to sing even more sweetly than heretofore, and those who have heard them on other occasions, will not be disappointed in a rich musical treat. The piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. Jewell, Miss Abbie Garland and Mr. Jones.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Camp-Fire by Post Bean.

The soldiers and sailors of this vicinity have lately taken a fresh departure and determined to follow the example of their Portland brethren, and not only increase the strength of their organization, but if possible excel even the Bosworth Post. Some before this succeeds can be said, for the Portland Post have many thousand dollars in their treasury, and many generous friends who assist without solicitation. Therefore they are enabled to expend large sums of money among the needy poor of that city.

There are in this region a large number of soldiers and sailors who took active part in the late war, and it seems wrong to allow the lives, the shattered lives of these men to wear away without social life and fraternization. How soon will it be before the Grand Army will be a thing of the past. Death is an inexorable reaper and officers of the Post. 12 of this city have therefore resolved to do their best to break up this monotonous state of things and will give their first camp-fire on the school at their hall on Wednesday night. It is intended as a compliment in part to their friends, who have recently assisted them and therefore the invitations sent at present be necessarily limited. Below we give the programme:

From Winterport.

The officers elect of Howard Lodge, No. 69 of F. and A. M., were installed last Friday evening by R. W. John L. Norton in the presence of a large crowd of the wives, daughters and friends of the Masons, not only of Winterport, but from Carmel, Hampden, Orrington, Buckspor, Carver's Harbor and Frankfort. The following is a list of the officers, viz.: James Freeman, W. M.; A. B. Clark, S. W.; Chas. E. Jones, J. W.; A. B. Fernald, F. L. D. Curtis, S., John L. Norton, S. D.; Henry Bolon, J. D.; Richard Dearborn, S. S., E. M. Lewis, J. S.; Daniel Norton, T., B. T. Seaborn, Marshal; Rev. E. M. Small, Chaplain. Immediately after the installation ceremonies were concluded, the entire company repaired to Curtis' Hall, where a table had been prepared under the direction of the following committee of arrangements, viz: Chas. W. Grant, Geo. L. Lawrence, A. I. Mayo, S. J. Trott, A. J. Crocker, James Lowell, Henry Bolon, Chas. H. Jones, M. A. Snow and E. M. Lewis. Four tables running lengthwise of the hall, with a seating capacity of nearly two hundred, were surrounded by the finest not the largest company that ever assembled in Winterport. The tables were fairly loaded down with food of the most tempting kinds which the above committee served in superb style. After the collation was served the floor was cleared and the remainder of the evening, or rather night, was most enjoyably spent in dancing to the magic music of Longee and Crosscial Interlocutor. One of the most beautiful and attractive features of the entertainment was the profuse decoration of the hall with flags and streamers, which entirely concealed the walls and ceiling from view, hanging in graceful festoons above and around. This work was done by Capt. C. W. Grant, Capt. Geo. L. Lawrence, Capt. E. M. Lewis, Capt. A. J. Crocker and Mr. Moses A. Snow, whose taste and skill in the arrangement of flags would do great credit to professional decorators.

Potatoes are selling in Winterport at 90 cents per bushel. During the past two weeks the price has ranged from $1.10 down to 90 cents and the daily sales from 1,000 to 1,500 bushels.

THE BOSTONIAN is not in buying the lowest priced articles. The best is cheapest. So with the fine cultivated and plantation grown spices imported by Messrs. Pinckney, Jackson & Co., of London and New York. I have just received a shipment of these goods and would specially invite the attention of all consumers to them. These spices are not only absolutely pure, but are without a doubt the finest ever imported into this country. I confidently recommend them as being really of unusual merit.

WORDS OF WARNING!

During the present year, as in the past, the grave will close over thousands, simply because they neglect the means which would restore them to health. Meet the fell destroyer at the threshold, and dispute his invasion by that more than wonderful medicine, Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound. There is no cough or cold, case of asthma, bronchitis, bleeding, weak lungs, croup or whooping cough which will not yield more readily to this great BOTANICAL remedy, than any other medicine. If you would avoid disappointment and be speedily cured, ask your druggist for Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry, and Horehound. Trial size, 10 cents. Regular sizes, 50 cents and One Dollar.

Sold by Wm. E. Alton, J. F. Patten, N. S. Harlow, Bangor; E. B. Stover, Buckspor.

Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup is perfectly safe. Extremely palatable. No physic required. Costs 25 cents. Try it. jan1 1m

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime has now been before the public for ten years, and has steadily grown into favor and appreciation. This could not be the case unless the preparation was of high intrinsic value. The combination of the Phosphate of Lime with pure Cod Liver Oil, as prepared by Dr. Wilbor, has produced a new phase in the treatment of Consumption and all diseases of the Lungs. This article can be taken by the most delicate invalid without creating the disgustful sensation which is such a prominent objection to the Cod Liver Oil when taken without Lime. This preparation is prescribed by the regular faculty, and sold by the profession. A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston, and by druggists generally. eodlw Jan24

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS.—These deservedly celebrated and popular medicines have effected a revolution in the healing art, and proved the fallacy of several maxims which have for many years obstructed the progress of medical science. The false supposition that Consumption is inherited, dedicated to the tomb from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients afflicted with it resigned themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a doom which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now proved, however, that Consumption can be cured, and that it has been cured in a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate ones) by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone, and in other cases by the same medicine in connection with Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one or both, according to the requirements of the case.

Dr. Schenck himself, who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed at one time to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and, since his recovery, many thousands similarly affected have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists. eodlw jan1

LIONS ABOUT!

It is a dangerous thing to trifle with a fool. A darkey preacher once told his hearers that he thanked God, "that the devil went about as a roaring lion, seeking whom he might devour. He might catch a poor fellow who didn't know that he was near him; but when he heard the roar he could get out of the way; if he didn't, he deserved to die." So when one hears the wheeze or the cough which tells of the old lion of Consumption lurking around, he should fly to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM for Wild Cherry, and get out of the way of danger. This preparation is well known, has been tried nearly fifty years, and is acknowledged by all who use it to be unsurpassed in its soothing and healing properties.

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists. eodawlw jan24
